Hi Eric and Steve,

Here's a link to a Tile Drain Article that Lake Champlain Committee posted on FaceBook. This article illustrates the extent of the concern is broader than just the US - Sweden and the Baltic Sea, and New Zealand.

I've only skimmed the article, but thought you'd both like to see it. Also, the Journal of Environmental Quality will be featuring a special section on this topic in the next issue.

In any case, I'm glad that at our Steering Committee meeting, 2 Tile Drain projects are at the top of the list for funding. One that examines the effectiveness of BMPs to remove P, and another that will focus on various soil types, slopes etc and the P that's transported via tile drains (Jewett Brook).

Regards,
Jeanne
